ELEVEN STATES ARE UNDER QUARANTINE FOR RATTLE PLAGUE

Rhode Island Is Latest Territory in Which Work to Eradicate Foot and Mouth Disease Is Being Pushed

INFECTION IS MENACING COUNTRY'S MEAT SUPPLY

Secretary Houston Says Unless Infection Is Localized It Threatens Untold Losses Among Live Stock

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The department of agriculture prepared today to extend their fight against the foot and mouth disease to Rhode Island, the only other quarantined territory against interstate shipments of live stock was ready for immediate issuance. The addition of Rhode Island would mean eleven states under federal quarantine against the epidemic. New York, Ohio, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Maryland, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa comprise the list of areas.

Reviewing the fight the states and the department of agriculture are making, Secretary Houston said that unless the infection immediately could be localized and quickly eradicated, it threatened untold losses among live stock. "Secretary authorities of the United States," he said, "are agreed that the only method of combating the disease is to stop all movement of stock and material which have been subjected to any danger of infection, and to kill off without delay all herds in which the disease has gained any foothold. This enables the authorities to eradicate the disease, the stock, the cook to the company."

So, as the company cannot go to the stock, the cook goes to the company. The cook, the company puts a yoke on his shoulder and a cook's cap on his head and warns the second cook that if he lets the fire go out, he will be fired. The second cook goes to the fire and the first cook goes to the stock. The first cook goes to the stock and the second cook goes to the fire. The first cook goes to the stock and the second cook goes to the fire. The first cook goes to the stock and the second cook goes to the fire.

At present the chief danger lies in the possibility of there being concealed herds of infection," the secretary said.

All shipments of live stock from Rhode Island to the United States will be held by a quarantine order prepared last night by the department of agriculture. There is no evidence of foot and mouth disease in the demotion, but inspection has been sent over the border and the order is to prevent their return.

However was added to the list of quarantined states because of discovery of the disease at Wilmington. This brings the number of quarantined states to twelve.

The department of agriculture today ordered an inspection to Combs, Miss., to make a further investigation into a possible case of foot and mouth disease there. A preliminary inquiry indicated that the kind but the department was not satisfied with that conclusion.

Disease Under Control in Chicago, 1,042 Animals Slain

Under Quarantine, 200,000 Animals Slain

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Control of foot and mouth disease in Chicago today was placed under quarantine, with a total of 1,042 animals slain.

The department of agriculture today ordered an inspection to Combs, Miss., to make a further investigation into a possible case of foot and mouth disease there. A preliminary inquiry indicated that the kind but the department was not satisfied with that conclusion.

For the first time since the organization of the party, not a living cow, steer, pig or sheep was in the enclosure today. The last infected animal was shot today and buried in a quicklime time yesterday. In all 1,042 animals, valued at $100,000, were slain and buried in quicklime.

Crabbing of the pens, allies, horses and mules with a solution of Bisulphate continued today.

Result-Producing

New and used machinery, for sale, occupies a position of its own in the classified columns of the Atlanta Journal. It is advertised everywhere as a result-producing medium.

In the Wake of the War With Corey

"The hero of the war is the fat cook of the field kitchen," says Mr. Corey today. He describes the work of the chefs of the German army, their miraculous efficiency. The famous cook wagon of the circus is nothing to the army outfit.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 29.—There isn't a thing here about a cook. One simply cannot imagine a cook in a soldier's apron. When a soldier is cooking, he is cooking. When a soldier is cooking, he is cooking. When a soldier is cooking, he is cooking.

"They've earned it," said the man who had seen them. "They are the bravest men in the kitchen's four millions. I've seen generals salute them, and they're not afraid of a field kitchen on wheels. Sometimes the first man in the morning and the last to sleep at night. He is held to the strictest accountability. The Tenth Legion is a platoon of food—a sort of well-fed soldier will fight. A hungry one may not."

"When the company gets into camp at night," said the man who knows the cook is there before it, sweating at his fire and the second cook, and turning out quantities of a delicious-looking stew, which is, nevertheless, very good to eat."

"When that company goes into the trenches the cook stays behind. There is no place for a field kitchen in the trenches must be fed. The Tenth Legion insists that all soldiers must be fed—especially the men in the trench. The Tenth Legion insists that all soldiers must be fed—especially the men in the trench. POLITICIANS MAKE ROAD SAYS CONGRESSMAN

It's Time to Take the Public Road Out of Politics, Says President Fletcher, in Opening Address to Delegates

(By Associated Press.)

GOVERNMENT SHOULD AID, ASSERTS HOKE SMITH

Other Speakers Also Pleaded for Federal Aid in Highway Construction—South's Progress in Road Work Is Praised

(By Associated Press.)

Federal aid for road improvement and the elimination of the four million miles of bad roads were the keynote to the first session of the fourth American Automobile Congress, which convened Monday morning in Taft hall.

President Austin B. Fletcher asserted that the time had come to take the public road out of politics and handle it as a great business undertaking should be handled. He advocated the creation of a nationwide corps of trained and efficient men who will make road building and maintenance their life work.

Senator Hoke Smith declared that the building of a system of improved highways connecting the counties and the states was a problem of nationwide interest and that the government should aid in it. He pointed out that the American Automobile association, who said that the association was lending its influence to have congress afford the desired co-operation and financial assistance.

More than 1,500 of the 4,500 delegates expected to attend the fourth American Automobile Congress were present at the opening session.

The convention was called to order by President Austin B. Fletcher, following which Bishop Warren A. Candier, of the Methodist Episcopal church, delivered the welcome address for the day.

Major Woodworth, in a brief address, welcomed the convention on behalf of the American Automobile association. He pointed out that the growth of Atlanta since the civil war and assured the visitors that they would be the recipients here of a kind of warm and hearty hospitality which they probably had never experienced.

President's address. The response to the address of welcome was made in a most happy speech by President Fletcher, who in a few words told of the objects of the congress. In this connection he said:

"You are here to discuss the American road problem for the first time. It may be a word or two to why this great national road meeting has become an established institution and a necessary factor in the working out of the fundamental problem of road improvement. Interdependence of city and country, of producer of shipper and consumer, has developed to such a degree that the road one of local importance, has become a question of national importance. This necessitates a reorganization of the government and a reorganization of the regulations of traffic while all this great passenger and freight traffic, which waves in and out on this network of roads has produced conditions which make new and different problems for the country and the highway engineer to solve. We are here, therefore, to discuss the road problem and to discuss the road problem and to discuss the road problem."

Logan Waller Page, director of the United States office of public roads and president of the American Highway association, explained the work being done by the federal government in road improvement. His address will be followed by a report on the work of the American Automobile association.

Robert P. Hooper, former president of the American Automobile association and one of the country's great road enthusiasts, discussed the relation of the road to the country and the highway engineer to solve. We are here, therefore, to discuss the road problem and to discuss the road problem and to discuss the road problem."

Mr. Hooper referred to the Indianapolis convention of the American Automobile association, which was a triumph for the road. He said that the road is a great business undertaking and that the government should aid in it. He pointed out that the American Automobile association, who said that the association was lending its influence to have congress afford the desired co-operation and financial assistance.

YEGG MEN WHO WRECK SAFE SECURE ONLY $6

Expert Safe Blowers Visit Ash & Estes' Store on Decatur Street

Blows to hit, the big safe of Ash & Estes, dealers in general furnishings, 341 Decatur street, was discovered by J. T. Ash covered by mattresses in the middle of his store Monday morning. Because all the firm's money, with the exception of $6, had been taken out Saturday night the yeggs obtained only that amount in return for their desperate deed.

Mr. Ash, the front door of the store, it was jammed, and would not open. Scouting trouble, he called Paul H. Haines, a traveling salesman, to assist him, and they went to the back door to get it. This door was found to be locked. In the center of the floor, moved away from the wall so that mattresses, piled about $200 worth, could be pushed around it to muffle the noise of the explosion. KAISER HAS FOOD ENOUGH FOR A YEAR OF THE WAR

Germany Can Support Himself Much Longer If Fighting Is Kept Off Her Soil

By ROGER W. HANSON.

(Banker and statistician, and student of international economy.)

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—The fundamental question that faces the belligerents at the present time is that of food supplies, both for the men at the front and the non-combatants at home. It is especially important to know the extent of Germany's ability to feed her citizens without help from other nations, in order to make any intelligent estimate of the war's duration.

In a normal year, one-third of the wheat consumed in Germany comes from outside sources. The imports in 1913 were over 450,000 bushels, while the production of this country was 150,000,000 bushels.

Imports of barley were 140,000,000 bushels, and production was 150,000,000 bushels. Imports of oats were 140,000,000 bushels, and production was 150,000,000 bushels.

BERLIN'S WELL FED AND ENJOYING LIFE

People Still Eat Wheat Bread, Go to the Theater and Feel Confident

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—They still eat wheat bread in Berlin. Amusements proceed with little sign of abatement. Few posters to call men to arms are in evidence and there are many able-bodied men on the street in civilian clothes.

Troubled With Torpid Liver for Years

Wm. Shub, Hermon, Tenn., writes: "I have been troubled with torpid liver and indigestion for years, and have used two bottles of Dr. Swan's Liver and Kidney Beans. I have truly say it has given me new life without anything else I have found."

Dr. Swan's Liver and Kidney Beans stimulates the liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels, increasing the secretions and excretions. Tonic to the system and strengthens the blood. Gives renewed vigor, promotes biliousness, constipation, nervousness and nervous weakness. Available to women only. Purely vegetable—pleasant to take.

Keep the whole body in a healthy condition and make life worth living. Help your liver with constipation, indigestion and other common ailments. It is so easy. 50 cents a bottle. Get the drug store or write to the author, National Health Co., New York.

It looks as if old King Cotton was rapidly resuming way.

Welcome to the good road workers. May the rut grow less.

It Depends on You.

Whether Atlanta's poor are to be left to casual aims or given systematic, constructive aid, whether Atlanta is to deal wisely with the problem of poverty or leave it to become a public peril and reproach, now depends upon whether or not the remaining five thousand dollars of the fund necessary to re-establish the Associated Charities is subscribed. This is a matter in which every citizen is concerned and to which every citizen should give earnest thought.
And we are sure that whoever does think of it seriously will promptly do his part toward this profoundly important cause.

The time has come when the rank and file of Atlantians must rally to the support of the Associated Charities. Of the twenty thousand dollars needed to re-establish this invaluable institution, fifteen thousand has been subscribed, in comparatively large sums by comparatively a few men and women.
The remaining five thousand dollars should be raised by the great body of the people. It should be raised without further solicitation, as a voluntary offering from an enlightened and conscientious public. It must be raised promptly if the Associated Charities is to live.

In saying that the contributions thus far secured have come from comparatively a few individuals and business firms, we do not mean that the response has been other than generous and popular. But in a community of two hundred thousand inhabitants, contributors to the Associated Charities ought to be numbered, not by hundreds, but by thousands and tens of thousands. They should include every man and woman who has a sense of human brotherhood and a wish to do good in the world.

The Associated Charities is not a machine, it is not merely an institution, not merely a clearing house of philanthropy. Vastly more than this, it is the kindly feeling, the generous thought, the practical service, the very heart and soul of those who maintain it. Day in and day out, the seasons through it, it ministering to hunger and sickness, is mending broken lives, saying the word that cheers and doing the deed that saves. You can become a part of this service, if you will. You can add your help to the organized and, therefore, efficient help of hundreds of others. You can put your best impulses into effect.
You can be instrumental in saving the Associated Charities and in making its future secure.

You must admit that the censor is not very active

The Cotton Loan Plan Approved.

The Attorney General of the United States has declared officially that the proposed cotton loan plan involves no violation or infringement whatsoever of the federal anti-trust laws. This opinion, based upon careful inquiry and coming directly from the Department of Justice, removes all doubt concerning the legality of the loan plan and virtually assures
the prompt completion of the fund.

The greater part of the one hundred and thirty-million dollars required for this purpose has been subscribed. Certain New England financiers, however, hesitated to enter the movement until assured that it was not even remotely questionable in the sight of the law. Their apprehensions are now put to rest, and they doubtless will subscribe their allotted portion of the fund.

This plan to sustain cotton interests in the midst of an unprecedented ordeal has the hearty approval of the Federal Reserve Board and of the national Administration. It contemplates the lending of money on cotton at six cents a pound, at a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent, for a period of twelve months, with privileges of renewal at an additional six months. Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department describes the plan as being
"more practical than anything heretofore presented."

As soon as the relatively small remainder of the one hundred and thirty-five millions is subscribed, the fund will become available for cotton loans, and the interests of the South, together with those of the common country, will be greatly benefited.

It is up to the farmer to produce only one stalk of cotton where two grew before.

Woe to Nippon! shout the Germans, but the press dispatches indicate rather the reverse.

The Only Choice.

As a result of the recent Congressional elections,
there are now in the United States only two political parties of appreciable strength, only two standards under which voters can enlist to determine the policies and the character of their government. To all practical purposes, the so-called "Progressive" party has ceased to exist. Its rank and file, so ardent two years ago, has dwindled to a disconsolate handful, without leadership, without organization,
without plan or hope for the future.

Nor is it surprising that this should have come to pass, for apart from its purely Rooseveltian aspect, the essentials of the "Progressive" movement already existed in one or the other of the older parties. Its spirit of reform, of justice for the masses and of conservation for human resources was vital in Democracy. Its paternalism, its defense of high tariff, its friendliness toward monopoly were already represented in Republicanism. It was inevitable, therefore, that a party for which there was no practical need, should dissolve.

The Democratic party will live so long as there are men who believe in common rights as opposed to special privilege, and the Republican party will live so long as there are men who believe in special privilege as opposed to common rights. The Liberal and Reactionary find their places respectively in these two organizations. Men who are forward looking must depend upon the Democratic party, while men who look backward must turn to the Republican party. For practical-minded citizens, there is no other choice.

At heart, the reunited Republican party of today is no different from the broken and dispirited Republican party of 1912. It has recovered a measure of its old strength, and it has retained, in their entirety, its old ideas. It is still the party of Cannon and Penrose and Aldrich, the party of discredited bosses and crooked alliances, the party of high tariff and tyrannous monopoly. Its candidates in the recent elections were drawn from the old guard, they ran on reactionary platforms, were elected by reactionary sentiment, and are committed to reactionary ends.

Prior to 1912 there were earnest efforts to regenerate the Republican party from within. The "Insurgents" did their utmost to purge it of boss rule and to make it an instrument for accomplishing popular demands. But the Insurgents failed as the "Progressives" failed. The more liberal and far-sighted members of the party pledged it to downward tariff revision, but when the time for action came the only result was the Payne-Aldrich bill which made the tariff higher and unfeather than ever.
In like manner, its every pledge, looking to popular rights, was broken, repeatedly broken, until in 1912
the country turned the faithless party out.

Since then there has been a new order of things
at Washington, new policies and vastly different results. Under the Wilson Administration, the Democratic party, has redeemed all its important pledges.
It has revised the tariff downward, has refashioned
the banking and currency system upon a secure basis and has enacted a program of trust legislation that protects and promotes business freedom. At the same time it has upheld the nation's interest and honor abroad, and has given American ideals new prestige among the Powers of the world. In short, the Democratic party has proved itself a dependable and effective instrument for public service.

Which party will the people trust? To which party will they commit their government, the party that is reactionary to the core, or the party whose whole spirit and record breathes progress and performance? If the people want a govern-ment devoted to special privilege, they can find no surer agency than Republicanism; if they want a government devoted to the common interests, they can find none so sure as Democracy. And the fact that they have sustained the Democratic administration in the face of the most trying business ordeal known in many years indicates what the rank and file of the people do want and what they are going to have.

To prove that a sure thing isn't sure, play it to win.

tunate enough to have a horse given him.

Editorial Echoes

It is almost the invariable rule that two years after a presidential election in which Congress goes with the President the House of Representatives is carried decisively by the opposition. That it was not so carried this year is a signal victory for the President and his party. And that such a victory could be won this year when so many things that influence an unthinking voter against the party in power handicapped the Administration, is a remarkable evidence of the strength of the President, who was elected as a hope and who is now indorsed as that hope more than made good. Aside from this the notable feature of the election is the piteous out of the Roosevelt party, the stand-pat Republicans reappearing as the only real party of Democratic opposition and foreshadowing the issue two years hence as made up of progressive Democracy led by Woodrow Wilson and the old repudiated forces of high tariff and monopoly led by the Cannon and Payne resurrected for the occasion from the Valley of Dry Bone.—Courier-Journal.

The Duty of the Senate to Investigate Charges Against Penrose

The citizens of Pennsylvania have expressed their will by ballot in electing Senator Boies Penrose to the United States. If he is to be the man they believe is best able to represent them, there will be no disposition to question their right of choice. But the United States Senate is the highest legislative body in the nation, and as a present member of that body Penrose belongs not alone to Pennsylvania, but to the entire nation. There are certain well-defined duties governing the election of each member. These laws are intended to preserve the purity of our national institutions.

Ledged with the committee of elections and privileges there are a number of specific charges against Penrose. Some of the documentary evidence supporting these charges has been made public. Other charges against his political methods have been printed and circulated. There can be no possible confusion of the point at issue. Senator Penrose is not, as yet, under a vague cloud of rumor. He is specifically charged with definite acts that are believed by competent authority to invalidate his right to sit in the senate.

The size of his vote in the commonwealth has nothing whatever to do with the status of the case. A popular endorsement by a majority of the people of one commonwealth does not relieve him of the necessity of proving his right to sit in the national body. The charges do not refer to the present, but to the past, and the decision of this election is irrelevant.

It is necessary for the honor of the form of government we live in that the Senate should go into effect and a calm, dispassionate and judicial investigation be made by the senate of the charges against the senator. The people of the United States should do that as a duty it owes to itself, and the nation as a whole will loyally accept the verdict.
The senate should be glad to give the people of the United States the opportunity to see the committee and Penrose himself will have to live out his conduct under a microscope. The senate should not ought to be. Moreover, Pennsylvania is entitled to have these serious allegations against her senator disposed.

No one is asking for a persecution; no one thinks that the Democrats would take advantage of their present majority to unseat a political opponent; no one thinks that the Republicans would throw out of the senate a man who is a member of the majority. But there are multitudes of citizens in the United States and there are thousands of men in Pennsylvania who want to know the truth about the charges against Senator Penrose. The investigation ought to be held, in view of the fact that the charges are public property, in order that our national trust in the high officials shall be free from all taint, whether implied or actual. As the investigation

FULTON TO GET SMALL SHARE OF AUTO FUND

Pays in $20,000 in Taxes and Will Get Back Only About $453

Although Fulton county, with its 100,000 automobiles, has paid $20,000 into the state automobile fund, it will receive only $453 in return.

The distribution of the fund, which is made in each annual tax collection, will be made according to the number of automobiles in each county. Fulton county has 86,000 of rural automobiles, 14,000 of city automobiles, 2,000 of taxicabs and 1,000 of motor trucks.

The automobile fund, collected during the past year and now ready for distribution, amounts to $152,739.28, of which Fulton county is entitled to $453. The sum paid in by each of the four counties in the state and the amount which will be returned to them follows: Fulton paid in $20,000 and will draw $453; DeKalb paid in $15,000 and will draw $350; Cobb paid in $12,500 and will draw $281; and Gwinnett paid in $12,500 and will draw $281.

Each of the four counties supplied $11,672.25 and will get back but $1,167.25.

Mr. J. S. P. Speer will be in charge of the distribution of the fund. He will be in charge of the fund in the various counties. He will be in charge of the fund in the various counties.

HERE'S WHERE COTTON BRINGS $1 PER POUND

Now Norris Candy Packages Look. Norris Candy Company Is Putting Up Neat Package of Sweets, Packed in Cotton

Cotton is selling at a dollar a pound. At least, the "Exquisite" brand sold in two-pound bags in many Atlanta stores brings this price.

These bales, although generally packed with cotton and covered with cotton, are really filled with candy, and bear the legend, "Norris-Atlanta-Exquisite Candies." The young men who comprise the firm of Norris, Inc., are being congratulated over the novel candy package, which is being sold by Norris, Inc., along with the candy which fills these unusual packages.

THEATERS

Mercedes, the famous dramatist of advanced thought transmission, a star of the modern vaudeville, will headline the bill at the Forsyth this week, and if real quality of value the busy theater is in for one of its most successful weeks. Mercedes has been investigated and endorsed by the leading scientists of this country and Europe, and is called "A Musical Enigma," and it is the act that has crowned New York's principal vaudeville theaters for weeks in succession.

In addition to the headline, the management has been most fortunate in securing a combination of vaudeville acts that represent the best in their respective departments. Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, the cleverest of all the star singing and dancing headliners will present a new act that has been declared excellent. This popular duo will have a great deal to do with the drawing power of the show. George Lyons, the harpist, and Bob Yocco, the singer, will offer a specialty in a "street singing" act, and among the comedians of the week will be Mary Ellen, the elephant comedienne, who will perform some stunts that will make folks forget that there is anything but happiness.

The Girls in daisy dances will present a novelty feature and Edwin George the comedy juggler will interest in a perfectly new specialty, while Fern, Biglow and Meridian in a comedy offering complete the bill.

Tonight at the Atlanta theater, "Pag o My Heart," Oliver Morosco's dramatic comedy, will be held in this city for the second time. The success of this splendid play at the Cort theater, New York, where it enjoyed a phenomenal run of nearly two years, will be echoed here by the large attendance to witness it this evening.

FINE WEATHER DURING WHOLE WEEK PROMISED

Monday Night and Tuesday Cool But Wednesday Will Be Warmer

After giving Atlanta a thorough drenching Sunday afternoon, blowing the puddles away Sunday evening, and cooling the city Sunday night the weather man announced Monday morning that he was ready with the fairest, clearest, most bracing week of the season.

Sunday's storm, he said, was the result of a disturbance down in the Gulf, a temporary affair. With the cessation of the rain, a blustery northeaster set in which sent the mercury down to 40 degrees and roused Atlanta Monday to wind-swept streets and flapping poplars.

Monday's rain is expected. The forecast is that the wind will die down during the day Monday, bringing cold, calm conditions Monday night. It will be colder than Sunday night, says the weather man, although the mercury is not expected to touch the freezing point.

Tuesday will be fair and cool, and the rest of the week should be ideal, with neither rain nor wind, good November weather with just enough chill in the air to set the blood to tingling.

FIRST PRESBYTERIANS MOURN DANIEL'S DEATH

Resolutions on Death of Dr. John B. Daniel Adopted by Congregation

Resolutions on the recent death of Dr. John B. Daniel were adopted Sunday morning by the First Presbyterian church of Atlanta. The resolutions were read by the pastor, Dr. J. R. Lyons, following which the congregation approved them by unanimous vote.

Whereas, on October 26, 1914, Dr. John B. Daniel, one of our most beloved and honored officers, closed his long career of usefulness with a triumphant entrance into eternal rest.

Whereas, Dr. Daniel, for a period of more than forty years, was an eminently useful, active and consecrated member of this church, serving it with great distinction as a deacon from 1882 to 1893; as a ruling elder from 1893 to 1901; and as a trustee from 1901 to 1914.

Whereas, it is fitting that we, who were long associated with him in the closest bonds of Christian fellowship in the Master's work, should testify to his exalted worth and character.

Therefore, be it resolved, by the officers and members of the First Presbyterian church of Atlanta, Ga., in congregation assembled:

First, That in the death of Dr. John B. Daniel this church, in its varied activities, interests and relations has sustained a grievous loss.

Second, That his rare type of Christian piety, his punctual and regular attendance upon divine worship, his love for the Lord's day and house, his blameless walk and conversation among us, his liberal gifts for the extension of Jehovah's kingdom, his courtly manners, and his countless deeds of kindness to all, will be cherished by this church as a precious heritage of memory through the years to come, and as a radiant example of unselfish service worthy of all imitation and respect.

Third, That, as a memorial to Dr. Daniel, a copy of these resolutions be inscribed upon the minutes of the church session and that a copy be furnished the bereaved family and the religious press of our denomination.

Deaf Mutes Are Wed, The Minister Using The Sign Ceremony

In the presence of 200 friends, twenty-five of whom were deaf and dumb companions of former school days, Miss E. E. McCarty and Mr. P. R. Rivers, both themselves deaf mutes, were married Sunday afternoon at the home of Country Policeman J. O. McCarty, father of the bride, in Peachtree park.

Rev. L. W. Rivers, pastor of a Methodist church in Hapeville, and father of the groom, performed the ceremony. Previously he had arranged a rehearsal with the young couple, explaining, with the aid of a deaf and dumb interpreter who used the sign language, the questions and responses in the ceremony.

The responses were made by the bride and groom at signals from the minister. For the benefit of those present who were deaf and dumb the service was read aloud.

The wedding was the culmination of a romance begun when the bride and groom were but children, when both of them were students at the Cave Springs school for deaf and dumb. The bride graduated two years ago; the groom had finished the year before that, and obtained a position with the J. K. Orr Show company in Atlanta, where he now is a valued worker.

The McCarty home at Peachtree park was beautifully decorated for the ceremony. Magnificent presents, many of them gifts from county police officers and their wives, valued at over $1,000 in all, were shown in one room of the house.

The bride and groom left after the ceremony for their wedding trip, their fingers dyed to crimson their happiness.

Revised Downward--the Prices of Sheets and Pillow Cases

Temporary and, Therefore, More Urgent Reductions on Standard Brands of Sheets and Pillow Cases

A day for the housekeeper!

The Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. regular prices on standard brands of sheets and pillow cases are the minimum prices at which these brands can be sold.

This we have proved time and again.

So when reductions are made on these prices they represent actual savings. Small, you say--yes, when taken separately, but collectively, great. And it is the part of good housekeeping to save on such things as these, and when the opportunity presents itself.

We have an idea that many will supply themselves against the months to come.

Minor Leaguers Flock to Omaha For Annual Meet

Representatives of Practically Every Baseball League in the Country on Hand—Meeting Expected to Bring Out Some Interesting Developments

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8.—More than a hundred heads of club owners and players were on the dock for the celebration of the board of administration of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues when that body met today. They included claims against major league clubs on sales and drafts of players from minor leagues, and of individual players who presented their grievances to the board.

The list was an unusually long one this year because of the extraordinary conditions which affected the organized baseball during the last season. The first meeting of the association proper is scheduled for Tuesday morning, but the influx of baseball men from every part of this country and Canada added interest to the meeting of the arbitration board.

Trace today brought representatives from practically every league in organized baseball. Members of the National Baseball commission were expected to be on hand to observe the deliberations of the association.

Overhauling all other matters to come before the general meeting will be consideration of the advent into professional baseball of the Federal League. Many members of the minor leagues already have declared they either must be protected against incursions of untrained baseball or become free lance themselves.

A general change in the topography of the baseball map is believed probable for many of the delegates. Into this question enters the prospect of class AA league clubs and members of the American association and Western leagues already are framing proposals for changes.

Classification of leagues will be an important matter to come before the delegates. The question of salaries again will be taken up, and demands of the minor leagues for what they consider proper remuneration for drafts.

Commerce High Defeats Monroe

COMMERCIAL, Ga., Nov. 8.—The Commerce high school football team easily defeated the Monroe high school team in the former's second game of the season, 45 to 0. The game proved very interesting from first to last. The Monroe team played a steady game, but were outclassed by the opposing team. Commerce gains were made largely by and runs, frequently resulting in ten yards or more.

The stars for the Commerce team were Captain Smith, Sims, Davis, Cooper, Hurler, and several others, runs were made by the Monroe team.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE.

"Brickley, out in uniform today, kicked fourteen dropkicks out of fifteen trials with his left foot."—Harvard dispatch to the press.

In fact, we'd hardly be surprised to see the notice spread. That he had kicked a field goal while wearing on his head; Or read that both his legs were lost in some off-jackle snarl. Whereas, he tied the score up by a drop kick with his ear.

It's no great matter, left or right. When he decides to shoot; Old Force of Habit does the rest. And he collects the loot; When he takes aim with hoof or ear Beyond the cross-barred way. You might as well tack on three points And start another play.

MORE OF THE PSYCHO.

Princeton's attitude toward Harvard and Yale fairly reeks with psychology and is going to spin. She goes into the Crimson affair confident that she will be at top speed. Hence, with weaker material, as in 1911 and 1912, she either wins or gives the red array a terrible battle. But against Yale, Princeton is always looking for the break of the game to turn the other way—for the Blue to absorb any fortunes of war that might be lying around loose. In game after game Princeton has had the best of it, only to have Yale turn and put something over—as Coy did when Princeton was leading, as Howe and Kilpatrick did in 1910, as Pumphrey did in 1912. Hence, Princeton against Yale is rarely at her best mental attitude for victorious combat.

Last season Princeton looked to be .35 per cent better team against Harvard than against Yale. She makes a hard, clean fight against both. But in one case she expects to win and in the other she hopes to.

A RECORD BREAKER.

From present indications this promises to be the grandest little old Winter I've ever known. It is now barely under way and yet already we have Mr. Mack assuming the management of the Yankees. Or, in case Mr. Mack doesn't come, his Mr. J. Collins will be delegated to act.

WE always had an idea that Ad Wolcott was a fairly smart fighter until he soaked Freddie Welsh over the head with his wrist bone. Doesn't he know that for durability a bone in the head is worth two in the arm?

PAR BE IT, INDEED.

Far be it from us to cast aspersions in any certain direction or to impugn any one's motives. But we notice while all France's best prize fighters are at the front, at late accounts Bombardeur Wells hadn't enlisted, and at later accounts Mr. Welsh was abt. 5,000 miles away from the closest sledge gun now in action. Freddie, apparently, is an English fighting man only where the box office is handily adjusted.

WE remarked that all French prize fighters were at the front. We forgot about Jack Johnson who is now limping well out of range of fire. He has a number of stone bruises on his heels from practicing quick starts for the nearest port when Germany opens.

WE are beginning to believe that that learned philosopher who wrote of war as "The Great Illusion." Very little, if any, bodily harm has come to Jack Johnson or Stanislaus Zabyzov.

"What," queries G. R. F., "have you got against the Germans?" Nothing. We have always boasted Hans Wagner, Wallie Schang and all the rest of the regular Germans. But when they make 70,000,000 jumps on a nation of 7,000,000 and wipe it off the map, what's the idea of cheering ten men for murdering one?

THE TIP-TOE.

You can come fairly close to obtaining the tip-toe on a citizen's soul despite, leaving the golf course. The other day we saw an old coddler plump his maulie shot into a section of muddy water. He first bawled his coddle out for marking the exact spot the ball landed and then made him appropriately on a ray day to find the ball. The picture would have been admirably closed if some one had stepped up and cracked the old duck on the back of the neck with a full brasserie.

If the allies win the festive Turk won't catch anything at all except Gehenna in midseason form.

Penn was looking for a soft battle against Michigan after the Syracuse game. But after the Harvard affair the Red and Blue were forced to adjust its focus and assume a change position. What you do one Saturday is no forecast of what is coming off the next, whatever the contest you are strapped to.

New Oil Offered Motor Car Owners

There is just being placed on the market by the Buckeye Refining company, of Cincinnati, a fluid which is guaranteed to give the users of automobiles 20 to 100 per cent more miles, speed and flexibility, at the same time almost entirely eliminating carbon deposits, leaving the motor clean and no need of cleaning. It is claimed there is less overheating, knocking or fouling of spark plugs, increasing efficiency and permits running slower on high gear without choking the motor.

Offices for the southeastern distributing points, which include the states of Georgia, Florida and Alabama, are now being established in Atlanta by the Gulf States Supply company, 215 Peters building, who will begin immediately covering this territory.

Darlington Team Smothers G. M. A.

ROME, Ga., Nov. 8.—The Darlington eleven smothered the Georgia Military academy team here Saturday, 48 to 0, before a large crowd. At no time was the Georgia Military academy likely to score, while the touchdowns of the locals came with great regularity. Georgia's Military academy could not score. Darlington's fast backs and less than ten forward passes were completed. Parker and Scumming played well for Georgia, but the game was a hard-fought one. The Vanderbilt brothers and Cruise starred for Darlington, while the whole team played the season's best football.

Alas, football has gone back. The Harvard players are given six of the best water from individual cups; and we used to dip a sponge in the bucket and pass it along.

RAILING AT THE NEW INNIS BROWN

As had been anticipated Saturday night, a tie in football through the country, and especially here in the south. The forecasts made on the big games in this section ran true to form in some cases, but were upset in others.

The local game between Auburn and Tech resulted about as a majority of fans had predicted. A margin of two touchdowns was the advance tip, and this tip called the turn. The Sewanee-Alabama game also resulted about as had been expected, though the Tide boosted the margin of difference rather higher than was expected.

The Vanderbilt-Tennessee and the Georgia-Clemson battles were surprises to many, more especially the latter. Georgia had been figured to win after a hard fight, and for three quarters the way they appeared likely to fulfill the promise. However, in the final quarter the Clemson eleven ran wild, piling up twenty-eight points in rapid order, and winning by a margin of twenty-two.

The Vanderbilt-Tennessee game had been figured a strenuous battle, with the odds favoring the Commodores slightly, if they were in fettle for the contest. However, the Knoxville eleven came through with some brilliant passing work, and capped this off with a field goal negotiated after a fair catch, giving them a margin of two points.

Incidentally, the results of Saturday's games all but settled the southern title, for rather it all put placed the title on such a position that no clear-cut title can be had. As matters now stand, Tennessee and Auburn are undefeated. The Vols play Sewanee Saturday of this week, while Auburn meets Vandy. The odds in each case favor the undefeated eleven. Should this pair come out victorious in these battles, the title will be left in doubt, each having a look in for the championship.

The showing of the Tennessee eleven this season has been very creditable, and should be a source of great satisfaction to its supporters. This is the first time within the history of football in the south that the Vols have ever had a real claim to the title. They have shown up with strong eleven in past days, but some of their opponents have always put them out. The Knoxville team has some corking good material, and this has been molded into a smooth-working machine. Coaches Chalmers and Pontius are to be congratulated on their work. Incidentally, this is the second time that any team coached by an ex-Wolverine has downed McGuffin's Commodores. Al Herstein, winning the Ohio State eleven some six years ago, trimmed the Nashville eleven, but on all other occasions where Commodore Dan has been pitted against a former pal, he has grabbed the victory.

Pontius was a member of the Michigan eleven since McGuffin was there, three times.

Memphis Makes Deal for Lord

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 9.—In the deal that has been completed for the transfer of Manager Brinsford Lord, by Mobile to the Memphis club, there is a new consideration, the sending of Jimmie Robertson to that club and its purchase of outfielder Burke by Mobile, according to an announcement today.

Concomitantly, stated by Little Rock, will be in the South Atlantic league. It is said here, a deal being under way for the purchase of the Columbia, C. franchise.

First of all

put one right over the fence and score for yours truly via Prince Albert, tobacco that made three men smoke a pipe today where one smoked before, and put new notions into men who know what a real makin's cigarette can taste like!

Why, to fire up a jimmy pipe packed with P. A. or to pull on a P. A. makin's cigarette is just about it! Never was such tobacco, because no other tobacco can be made like the national joy smoke

Sooner or later you'll go to this wonder-smoke as little apples grow on trees. Just can't help it, like! P. A. is so good and true, such chummy tobacco, that men just go happy about it. You get it into your system without losing any more time that you'll strike 18 kt. gold just as soon as you fire up a jimmy pipe or roll up a makin's cigarette with P. A.

Also, get these few remarks: Prince Albert is produced by a patented process that cuts out the bite and the parch. Prove that at the cost of a dime before you do the next thing!

Also, nail this: Just you be game enough to lay a dime against a tidy red tin—and cheer-up your smokappetite!

the Country's Farm Crops

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—This year's corn crop is, perhaps, the most valuable ever grown, owing to its increased price on account of the European war. The department of agriculture announced today in its preliminary estimate, that the crop would amount to 2,705,692,000 bushels and that on November 1 farmers were being paid 69.7 cents a bushel. The value of the crop therefore, based on

HOKE SMITH TELLS OF ATTITUDE OF CONGRESS ON COTTON SITUATION

Calls Attention to Fact That State of Georgia Has Made No Effort to Provide Relief for Its Cotton Growers

Senator Hoke Smith issued a statement Monday in which he corrected misstatements relative to the attitude of the United States congress toward affording relief to the cotton-growing states.

The senator points out the legislation passed by congress which is increasing the number of ships under American flag and therefore providing additional facilities for the movement of cotton to foreign ports.

He explains the currency legislation passed which will afford the cotton grower more than one hundred million dollars in currency upon the opening of the federal reserve banks.

Further legislation designed to further improve conditions in the south is being introduced by the senator, who also shows that with but one exception the southern senators supported legislation which was proposed for the government to purchase and hold off the market for a year or two.

Senator Smith remarks upon the fact that the state of Georgia has made no effort to provide relief for its cotton growers, and he reiterates that the cotton problem can only be solved by an acreage reduction next year of at least 50 per cent. His statement follows in full:

"For the past few weeks many false statements have been circulated through the state charging congress with the failure to take any action to aid the cotton situation in the south. These statements have been published in some newspapers ordinarily considered reliable. I wish to give you the facts.

"First, before doing so, let me refer to the almost charge that I promised before the primary twelve and one-half cents cotton to the farmers of Georgia. Of course, any such charge was unfoundedly false. No man could possibly control the price of cotton. For me to have promised that the farmers would receive twelve and one-half cents for their cotton would have been childish. The charge was not only false, but silly.

"While congress has not done all that I wished to see done, yet the cotton situation in the south has been immensely helped by legislation passed since the war began.

"Prior to the beginning of the war 40 per cent of our cotton was shipped abroad and manufactured by foreign mills. At the outbreak of the war three months ago, there were no vessels to carry our cotton to foreign ports. The entire export of cotton was stopped by the war. Not only was its use in foreign mills lessened, but there was no way to ship it to the owners of foreign mills.

"This subject received the immediate attention of congress. Our entire navigation laws have been remodeled. I need not give the details of the changes made, but today there are many vessels floating the flag of the United States. More are rapidly being added to the American registry.

"On Thursday last congress adjourned, a senate resolution was unanimously passed appointing a committee of five senators to press the adjustment of our differences with foreign countries in regard to navigation laws that cotton might at once be carried abroad. England promptly responded to the demand, and the improved price of cotton in the past two weeks is largely due to this. Facilities have been given for the exportation of cotton.

"LEGISLATION TO FURNISH CURRENCY.

"Early in August the Aldrich-Vreeland act, under which emergency currency is issued, was amended so as to increase the issue of emergency currency. All possible effort has been made to speed the opening of the federal reserve banks. The European war interfered with our entire financial system, and more than a month to start the reserve banks, but on the 14th of this month all twelve of these banks will open for business. More than one hundred millions of dollars of additional currency will be furnished to the nine cotton states through the legislation already passed and by the opening of the federal reserve banks.

"PENDING LEGISLATION.

"The senate has passed three additional measures, which are pending in the house of representatives.

"One of these provides for a system of government licensed warehouses to

VICE-GOVERNOR NAMED FOR THE RESERVE BANK

Practically all member banks of the federal reserve bank have paid their first installment of subscriptions, and preparations are rapidly going ahead for the opening of the bank on next Monday in its quarters in the Hurt building.

Mr. B. Wellborn, chairman of the board of directors, is here and will be here from now on, working in conjunction with Joseph A. McCord, governor of the bank.

The position of vice governor has already been proffered, but no announcement will be made until the directors meet here next Monday.

ARMAND MAY SUGGESTS OPEN AID TO CHARITIES

Armand May, of Atlanta, has written a letter to The Journal suggesting that subscriptions to the Associated Charities should not be confined to merchants. There are a number of people outside of business whose incomes are far in excess of merchants, and who would be glad to give where they solicited as the merchants have been solicited. The opportunity to do this is given the public through the coupon which appeared in the newspapers Sunday and appears again Monday.

SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES ADMIT NEUTRAL GOODS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, notified the state department that an agreement has been made with Denmark, Sweden and Norway that goods destined for neutral consumption only will pass freely into these countries if consigned to special persons with certificates of guarantee against re-exportation.

M. K. AND T. LAND SUIT IS DISMISSED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The supreme court today dismissed the suit of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway company against the United States for $10,000,000 damages for failure to construct alternate sections of land through former Indian territory to it.

$100 Down $25 Monthly ---for this Home

The watchword at the present time of the American people is "ECONOMIZE" and it's easy to ECONOMIZE, without self-denial--if it's done WISELY.

A great way to ECONOMIZE, is to STOP paying rent--and to apply your money, in small DIVIDED PAYMENTS, to the PURCHASE of a home--living in it while paying for it.

We can SELL you a mighty smart six-room house on a lot 60x130 feet, for $100 down and $25 a month. No mortgage to assume. You can move in at once.

It's a brand-new house and has such conveniences as a modern bath, electric lights, etc. The location is Capitol View (inside of Atlanta's city limits), only an 18-minute street car ride from the city office. This neighborhood has developed into a desirable residential section, where property values are increasing, as Atlanta grows.

Instead of paying rent--BUY this home, on aforesaid DIVIDED PAYMENT Plan--and you will be laying the foundation to Independence NOW--while folks who are rent payers are missing a golden opportunity.
